The research objectives to be achieved are (1) To find out the extent of the role of the Sector Police in controlling alcohol in Luari Village, North Tobelo District, North Halmahera Regency? (2) To find out what obstacles the Sector Police face in their efforts to control liquor in Luari Village, North Tobelo District, North Halmahera Regency.? This research uses a qualitative approach. Data collection techniques by means of observation, interviews and documentation. Qualitative data analysis techniques consist of data collection, data reduction, presentation, and drawing conclusions.

Based on data analysis and drawing conclusions, it can be seen that (1) The role of the Tobelo Police in controlling liquor is mostly conducting raids and PEKAD operations and also providing education about the dangers of consuming liquor. Several actions have been taken by providing education about the dangers of alcohol, providing education about drugs and alcohol to the public. Carrying out routine patrols every night of the week and always being ready to help the community in all actions related to community ills, (2) Inhibiting factors are the lack of community role in efforts to prevent or fight the circulation of alcohol around their environment, lack of public awareness of the dangers of alcohol and, reports or complaints from the public which are sometimes unclear, so that the follow-up process from the police at the Tobelo Police is hampered because some people take action to support monitoring the circulation of liquor because the business of selling liquor, apart from being easy to obtain, the production also provides large profits to the seller, so that the community think this can improve their economy.
