This research aims to determine the phenomenon that occurs as well as community perceptions regarding the process of managing village funds in Were village regarding planning, implementation and accountability for village funds in Were Village, Weda District, Central Halmahera Regency. The research method used in this research is a qualitative phenomenological approach, where this research is carried out in a descriptive manner, namely looking in detail at phenomena that are actually minimal due to miscommunication between village officials and the community. This is due to a lack of socialization from village officials, resulting in minimal understanding by the Were village community itself regarding the management of village funds in Were village. Therefore, it is hope that the village can work together to increase self-awareness and be more open about managing village funds in the Were village itself.
